REMINISCENCES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

Gleanings From the Records Left By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

In the latter part of October, 1878, Hanson, Ackerson & Co. had a narrow escape from another visit from the fire fiend, which had caused them the necessity of rebuilding their warehouse for the third time. In this instance at least circumstances left no doubt that this last visit of the destructive element was the work of an incendiary, and the method adopted by the fiend was rather a novel one, planned to make a certainty of escaping detection. On the morning of Sunday, October 28th, shortly after 8 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in with the direction that the fire was at the new warehouse. Responding quickly the firemen dragged the fire engine to the place only to find that no evidence of a fire could be discovered. The parties who turned in the alarm however insisted that they had seen smoke arising from the roof, and a careful search was made from the ground for some sign of fire, but without avail and the fire fighters returned to their house. The parties who had given the alarm still insisted that they could not have been mistaken and during the afternoon decided to investigate the roof for themselves. This rsulted in the discovery on the roof of a ball of phosphorus saturated with grease. This had evidently been thrown upon the shingles and had ignited in the heat of the sun, burning the grease, which had been the cause of the smoke which had attracted attention, and seemingly the only circumstances which had prevented another serious loss to this enterprising firm was the fact that the dampness of the shingles had prevented them from catching fire.

On the 28th of October, 1878, death called the man who if not the founder of the town of Redwood City, had at least the distinctionof being its pioneer settler. This was Captain George Watkins, a native of Liverpool, England, one of the early navigators to visit this coast in the days of the excitement immediately following the discovery of gold in California. Captain Watkins came to San Francisco in the early part of the year 1851 as the master of a sailing vessel, apparently without the least intention of becoming one of the settlers of the state, and that he did remain was due to a circumstance beyond his control, though not altogether unusual at that time. After he had anchored in the harbor he found his ship deserted by the entire crew who forsook the sea for the mines. This disgusted Captain Watkins with the sea and he surrendered his ship to her owner and decided to remain with the state, though he felt no attraction for the mines. For a year he remained in San Francisco, and then decided to try the less known country. Securing a small craft he sailed down the bay and entered Redwood Creek, coming up to the present site of the town. Here he landed with his family and built the first frame house in the town, located on what has since been known as Main street, a short distance north of the present school lane, or as it will be called in the future, Center street. Here he remained for a little more than a year, when he purchased what was afterwards known as the Watkin's place, on the San Gregorio creek. He removed to this place, then wild and uncultivated, with his family and there resided until the time of his death, which occurred after he had passed the 66th milestone of life.

On Saturday evening, December 21st, 1878, the local lodge of Masons then known as San Mateo Lodge, No. 168, installed the following as its officers: Johnathan White, worshipful master; I. G. Irwin, senior warden; James Crowe, junior warden; H. A. Scofield, secretary; Geo. W. Fox, treasurer; G. W. Green, senior deacon, D. G. Leary, junior- deacon; Philip Kreiss and L. Jacobus, stewards; J. L. Robinson, tyler.

THE WEST WINS THE FAIR; TANFORAN SHOULD BE SITE.

The news that San Francisco had won in the contest at Washington for the site for the Panama-Pacific exposition was received here with manifestations of gladness that were no less enthusiastic than those of San Francisco, the favored city. The moment the news reached town flags begun to fly from every flagstaff and at the tannery the whistle in announcing the noon hour blew off a whole boilerful of steam. During the afternoon the uniformed drum corps of the grammar school paraded the streets and made noisy martial music.

Now that it is settled that the exposition is to come practically to San Francisco, it is time to begin the agitation as to just where it will be located. There is no other place more suitable than San Mateo county. Let us agree on that question and name the site as Tanforan and stick to it. San Mateo county is wealthy and its people are energetic and influential and they can win by working hard.

HURLED FROM TOWER BY ELECTRIC FLUID.

Electric fluid, leaping from heavily charged wires across three feet of space, hurled young John Hallowell of Millbrae from a forty foot pole Saturday afternoon and pitched him headlong into a slough. Insensible and badly burned, the youth was rescued by his brother William and taken to the Red Cross Guild Hospital in San Mateo, where he lies in a critical condition.

The story of the accident, as told by William Hallowell, is to the effect that the young men were out hunting for ducks. John Hallowell climbed a tower of the Sierra and San Francisco Power Company's line in order to scan the marshes to determine whether there were any ducks in sight. Suddenly William saw a flame of electricity envelope his brother and then saw the body go hurling into the slough.

William says that his brother was fully three feet from the power wire when the flash came, and that it is the belief that the moisture in the air and the damp condition of the victim's clothing were sufficient to cause induction. The power wire carries a voltage of 200,000, but how great a voltage struck the victim is undetermined.

Hallowell is bady burned, the course of the electricity began from his right foot up to his waist, and then across the body and down the left leg to the foot. In addition his skull was fractured by the fall, and the attending physician, Dr. H. G. Plymire, holds out little hope for recovery. Hallowell is 17 years old and is a student at the San Mateo high school. His parents live at Millbrae.

SENATOR HOLOHAN IS AUTHOR OF MANY BILLS

Several of Mr. Holohan's bills have already passed both houses and have gone to the governor for his approval.

Judge Dooling Complimented

The judges of the several departments of the Los Angeles superior court, have requested the assignment of an outside judge to assist in clearing the clogged calendar, Governor Johnson has designated Judge M. T. Dooling of San Benito county to serve, bginning January 20th. Judge Dooling has been a superior court judge for fifteen years and has achieved a well-deserved reputation for high judicial ability. He is well known in this city, having been frequently called here to try cases that Judge Buck has felt himself disqualified to hear, and his decisions have always been able and just.

Arthur Dodge has moved his family down from San Francisco and will occupy the Bean cottage on Heller street. Mr. Dodge is employed in the railroad office.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

A GREAT RESPONSIBILITY.

In selecting San Francisco as the location for the holding of the worlds fair in honor of the completion of the Panama Canal, Congress has placed not alone upon that city, but upon the people of the entire State of California, a great responsibility. The boast has been made that from our own resources, from the brawn and brain and finances of the State, we could provide an exhibition worthy of the greatest enterprise of the century.

It is now up to the people of San Francisco and California to "make good." We must redeem this promise to the uttermost. In every respect the Panama-Pacific Exposition must be made not only the most attractive but the most complete exposition of its character ever held. That this can be done, no one at all familiar with the history of San Francisco and the state of California need for a moment doubt.

But to meet the great responsibility laid upon us we must have united and harmonious effort. Each, according to his appointed sphere must stand ready to do his whole duty. Every section of the State and every class of its citizens must stand ready to accept the responsibility. There must be no division, either of section or class.

Upon men of wealth devolves the first duty. He it is who must provide the financial support without which nothing can be accomplished. And he must provide this liberally. There must be no stinting of finances, no occasion for parsimony.

Men of brains must stand ready to contribute of the best of their ability. There must be wisdom to contrive and beauty to adorn every structure. Nothing must be left undone that will add to the attractions which we will offer our visitors.

Upon the men of brawn devolves an equally important duty. The mechanic and laborers must stand ready with the artist to contribute his share. There must be neither shirking nor attempt to take advantage of the need of the times to demand more than a just and reasonable return for the labor required. That the preparation for this great Exposition will create a greatly increased demand for labor there is not the slightest doubt, but for the good of themselves as well as their great State, the men who contribute this labor should not take advantage of the occasion to make unreasonable demands.

FLOOD PAYS WELL TO KEEP VIEW ARTISTIC.

To prevent his country mansion in Menlo Park from being surrounded by rows of bungalows and cottages, James L. Flood, multi-millionaire, clubman and auto enthusiast, recently purchased from a group of owners a 54-acre tract of land adjoining the property, which had been subdivided into town lots.

The Flood mansion, which was erected a decade ago, is one of the most costly as well as the most beautiful residences in the state.

The 54-acre tract is the westerly boundary of the Flood place. The market value of the land in that vicinity is $2000 an acre. The clubman is said to have paid a premium for the tract, and a conservative estimate places the price at $125,000.

For years the tract was the property of the late W. J. Adams, millionaire lumberman. At his death, the heirs formed the W. J. Adams Estate, a corporation. It was decided to subdivide the property, which accordingly, was placed on the market. Eight 3-acre lots had been sold and several cottages constructed when Flood planned to put an end to having his magnificent abode surrounded with what he deemed to be an inartistic view. So he entered into negotiations for the property.

The W. J. Adams Estate Company, Dr. Washington Dodge, Wm. M. Blattner, Margaret M. Blattner, Charles T. Spader and Anita Spader are among the owners that deeded their property directly to Flood. Other holders of slices of the tract conducted the negotiations with the Adams Estate.

The tract will become a part of the grounds of the Flood estate.

Flood has the best equipped private garage in the country, possessing more than a dozen motor cars.

The proposition of converting country estates into town lots is obnoxious to the aristocracy of the peninsula. Recently Miss Jennie A. Crocker purchased the William Tevis place in Hillsborough for a sum in excess of $350,000, after Tevis had turned the place over to a realty syndicate for subdivision.

LABORS OF GRAND JURY BROUGHT TO CONCLUSION

Inquisitors Advocate Increased Help for County Officials.

The grand jury made its final report last Thursday evening. It was very brief owing to the fact that the members had not sufficient time to inquire into certain matters and make investigations that require time and attention. The expert's report is attached to it and made part thereof. It is very exhaustive and complete, being a thorough compilation of the figures of the various officers. R. V. Fealy, the expert made a careful examination of the books of each office, showing the receipts and expenditures. R. V. Fealy recommends that the books of the sheriff's office be experted. The expert throws a bouquet at each official by saying that the accounts of each is kept in a business like manner and according to law . He finds that there is extravagance in buying road material and county supplies. He believes that there should have been a much better showing on the roads for the expenditure of $147,240.30 during 1910. The grand jury finds there is no check system used in the issuing of burial permits by the health officer. The health officer is "called down" for permitting pig pens to exist in the first township. They are a public nuisance and a detriment to the health of the community. The various committees on the roads of the county report the highways to be in good condition except in the fourth.

The grand jury recommends that the legislature re-classify the county, that under such classification the district attorney be provided with an assistant and a stenographer.

The jury recommends that a warrant clerk be provided for the clerk's office, whose duty it would be to pass on claims and he should have a good knowledge of the prices of materials and be able to pass on the proper cost of supplies.

The jury also recommends that the county officers, especially the recorder, clerk, auditor and district attorney, be given additional help, and a new system of public accounts be adopted, as suggested by expert Fealy.

The charge that Supervisor Casey was deriving benefit through the employment of laborers to cultivate a potato patch under the direction of his roadmaster, was investigated by the grand jury and at its final session Casey was exonerated.

In dismissing the grand jury, Judge Buck poured oil on the troubled waters that have disturbed the the relations between the inquisitorial body by expressing the opinion that the grand jurors had performed their duty efficiently and well, and that the apparent lack of progress in their investigations was undoubtedly due to the involved condition of county affairs, which opened up many lines of inquiry and forced upon them a large amount of additional work.

ANOTHER NOBLE WOMAN IS CALLED

Mrs. George D. Squires Answers Final Summons of the Grim Destroyer.

Seldom has news been received in this community with more of a shock than that occasioned last Sturday by the announcement of the death of Mrs. George D. Squires, which occurred Friday afternoon at a sanitarium at St. Helena, where she had gone but a few days before for medical treatment. To her host of friends the sad announcement came without premonition, for while it had been realized that Mrs. Squires had been in delicate health for some time, not even the members of her family realized the serious nature of her ailment, and it had been hoped that she would return within a few weeks fully recovered. Only after a strict medical examination was the serious nature of her illness discovered and the necessity for an immediate and severe surgical operation determined upon. With her system dibilitated from her devotion to religious and social duties, Mrs. Squires was unable to withstand the severe shock and failed to recover from the operation, and passed to her eternal rest.

During the years of her residence in Redwood City, Mrs. Squires has endeared herself to a host of friends. A truly devoted Christian, she had been an active member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, doing much to advance the work and interest of the parish, and a regular attendant at its services. Following this line of duty, she was also an earnest worker in St. Mary's Guild, even taking an active part in the charitable work to which the members of that organization devote themselves. Here it was that she made many friends, who early recognized her true worth and devotion, and learned to appreciate her true womanly work.

Recognizing the importance of civic improvement, Mrs. Squires some time since united herself with the Redwood City Woman's Club and soon took an extremely active part in its work, lending splendid aid to its numerous social functions. Here as elsewhere she was ever ready to sacrifice personal consideration to what she deemed a duty, and on every occasion was ready to give freely tof her best efforts, regarding not the demands of a weakening constitution gradually giving way to the encroachments of the grim destroyer. During the past year she has been chairman of the Civic Section of the Woman's Club and has taken an active interest in movements for the elevation of local conditions. And here too, her splendid moral and social character wom appreciation and cemented warm friendship.

Mrs. Squires was also active in fraternal affairs of the city, being one of the leading members of Sequoia Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. Doing nothing by halves, she was also an energetic worker in this organization, and at the time of her death was hloding the important office of Associate Matron.

A truly good woman has gone. Honored and respected by all elements of the community, best loved by those who best knew her, she will indeed be missed by a host of loving friends, who unite in expressions of heartfelt sympathy for the bereaved family.

In accordance with an expressed desire of the deceased, the remains were creamated, the last sad services being held at Oakland Monday afternoon. As an evidence of the universal love for the dead, these were attended by a large number of people from Redwood City. Among these were considerable delegations of ladies representing St. Mary's Guild and the Womans Club.

Price Gets Second Term.

Postmaster W. A. Price received a telegram from Congressman E. A. Hayes Thursday stating that President Taft had re-appointed him postmaster of Redwood City and that the appointment had been sent to the senate to be confirmed within a few days. Mr. Price, during his present term of four years has shown efficiency and capability in the management of the office and has given universal satisfaction. He is popular with the patrons, making a point to please all having business with his department. He has a very efficient corps of assistants who are obliging and courteous at all times. Mr. Price has worked hard with the department at Washington and the owner of the property in which the post office is located to secure for this city the present new and up to date office. It is the best equipped of any in the peninsula.

NO REASON FOR IT
When Redwood City Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured.

Read what a Redwood City citizen says:

Fred Hassler, 101 Stambaugh St., says: "My kidneys were badly disordered and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Knowing that difficulties of this kind often resulted seriously if allowed to go unchecked, I was anxious to get relief. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I got a box at P. A. Ryan's Drug Store, and their use completely removed the spmptoms of my trouble. In July, 1907, I publicly testified in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills and at this time I gladly confirm that statement. During the past two years, I have been free from kidney complaint. This fact justifies my speaking more highly than ever of Daan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't Judge a Roofing by Its Looks

On the surface, most ready roofings look the same.

But the weather finds the hidden weakness.

The weather finds the vegetable fibers in the fabric and rots them.

The weather finds the volatile oils which are concealed below the surface. The sun draws these oils, in globules, to the top of the roofing, where they evaporate in the air.

Where there was a globule of air, there remains a hole. And behind each hole is a tiny channel, which lets the weather and water into the very heart of the roofing.

When the sun and the wind and weather have sought out the hidden weaknesses, the roofing is porous, instead of solid, watersoaked instead of waterproof.

You can't tell by looks which roofing will last twenty years and which will go to pieces in a single summer.

Seventeen Years of Service

But you can do this: You can tell the original Ruberoid roofing—the only roofing which has lasted seventeen years—from the 300 substitutes which have proven their unworthiness.

Ruberoid was the first ready roofing. Its basis is the best wool felt impregnated with Ruberoid gum.

It is this wonderful flexible gum which no other maker can duplicate.

It is this gum which gives Ruberoid all the flexibility of rubber without containing an iota of it. It is this gum which withstands wind, weather, sun, fire, acid, gases, and fumes, where all other compounds fail.

It is this gum, in the Ruberine cement which accompanies each roll of Ruberoid roofing, which makes practically a one-piece roofing—sealed against leaks—sealed against the weather.

Ruberoid comes plain and in colors. The attractive Red, Brown, and Green Ruberoid are fine enough for the costliest home. And the color feature is exclusive—protected by United States and foreign patents.

In past years we have had experience not only with all ready roofings, but with other roofings—shingles, tar, tin, iron, and other roofings.

Test All Roofings

Each roofing is exposed to the weather test on the makers' roof garden at Bound Brook, N. J.

The result of these twenty years of tests has been written into a book, which will be gladly sent you free.

This book is a gold mine of roofing information, telling about the advantages and disadvantages of each roofing for each purpose. To secure a copy, address us.

RUBEROID
(REGISTERED IN U. S. PATENT OFFICE)
Be sure to look for this registered trademark which is stamped every four feet on the under side of all genuine Ruberoid. This is your protection against substitutes which many dealers brazenly sell as Ruberoid. Ruberoid is sold exclusively by us. We will tell you more about Ruberoid when you send for the free book.
